

Copyright Holder: European Commission

Khalil Mazraawi / Getty Images

NOHA SPRING SCHOOL IN HUMANITARIAN ACTION

9-13 May, 2016

NOHA is an international association of Universities that aims to enhance professionalism in the humanitarian sector, by promoting humanitarian values and providing certificated high-level courses (Master in International Humanitarian Action), as well as short-term courses and by fostering research and policy papers on key humanitarian issues. Since its creation in 1993, more than 3,000 graduates have completed the Joint Master's in International Humanitarian Action. NOHA counts on the cooperation and support of the EU through the DG Humanitarian Aid & Civil Protection (ECHO) and the DG for Education and Culture (DG EAC).

Drawing from the successful experience of the NOHA Fall Schools, organised since 2008, the NOHA Spring School in Humanitarian Action became a part of the network's short-term courses programme and is annually organised by Vilnius University in partnership with another European university.

This year, the Spring School will take place in Budapest, Hungary 9-13 May 2016, and it is co-organised by Eötvös Loránd University (ELTE). The teaching will be conducted by faculty from the network's universities and field actors, in order to provide professionals with a global approach and specific tools.

Objective

The Spring School aims at training professionals dealing with projects in Humanitarian Action (HA) in order to give them a critical overview of HA in a multidisciplinary perspective with a focus on the main principles, actors, tools. New challenges in HA will also be examined.

Target audience

Civil servants, staff from local, international and civil society organisations, and more generally those who are involved in HA and feel the need to upgrade their basic knowledge and skills. In order to reach the maximum effectiveness the number of participants will be limited to 20.

Date

5 days, 9-13 May, 2016.

Language of Training

English

Venue

Eötvös Loránd University, Faculty of Law
Egyetem tér 1-3, 1053 Budapest, Hungary

Copyright Holder: European Commission
Third Party Rights: Pedro Luis Rojo

Copyright © The Family International

Content

Introduction to HA
Principles of HA
International humanitarian law
Protection of civilians
HA quality standards
Actors in HA
Funding agencies
Logistics and humanitarian management
Migration and refugees
Psychological preparedness for HA
Challenges in HA

Lecturers

NOHA Faculty, ECHO, Caritas, UNHCR,
the Sphere Project, local NGOs

Certificates

Students will be awarded with certificate from NOHA and ELTE University (subject to 80% attendance).

Bernadett Szabo / Reuters

Admission

Admission is granted on the basis of the past education and/or experience in the field.
Candidates should fill in the registration form <http://www.nohanet.org/apply>
Registration deadline: 17 March
Notification of acceptance: 21 March
Payment deadline: 30 March *Waitlisted candidates will be notified (in case of acceptance) after 1 April *Prospective students are responsible for medical/travel insurance and visa arrangements

Fee

Course fee: 300 Euros.
Participation fee covers all teaching materials,
accommodation and daily lunch.
Scholarship is available upon motivated request.
Free-of-charge positions are available for
ECHO staff members.

Contacts

Renata VAIŠVILIENĖ
NOHA director, Vilnius University,
Law Faculty, International and EU Law Institute
E-mail: noha@tf.vu.lt

Assistant Professor Dr. Sára HUNGLER
Eötvös Loránd University, Faculty of Law
Tel. : +36 1 483-8000
E-mail: hungler@ajk.elte.hu

Additional information

<http://nohanet.org>
www.vu.lt
www.ajk.elte.hu/en

ELTE LAW
EÖTVÖS LORÁND UNIVERSITY

Foto: VANGUARDIA LIBERALE

Source: Wikimedia Commons

Foto: VANGUARDIA LIBERALE

A commitment to humanitarian excellence